Our Mission

We create Exceptional Production Experiences, by gathering the right people and the right resources, paired with meaningful design and elevated production value. Because when experienced planners get pulled into the day to day of their event production, taking care of their stakeholders and audiences becomes impossible. At Byrne Production Services, we direct the technical production of each event, using our Production Framework™ so they can be free to take care of their priorities.

Vision

We believe that elevated production value and meaningful design should be an essential part of our client's events. We support our clients through consultation, ideation, creative design, and production expertise to make their events more impactful. Using our five-part process, the Production Framework™ to quantify, analyze, engineer and execute their events from start to finish, ensuring we are making measurable impact on our clients objectives.
