OUR PHILOSOPHY

Rorschach (ROAR-shack)

The Rorschach test was created by Swiss-Psychologist Herman Rorschach in 1921; the test wasn't widely used until the 1960's. The test was meant as a way to provide data about cognition and personality variables such as motivations, response tendencies, cognitive operations, affectivity, and personal/interpersonal perceptions. The test was a complicated one with years of education required to be able to assess an individual using this method.

Why in the world would we name our brewery after such an obscure test with a name that is so difficult to pronounce? As legend states our brewer one day looked into his glass of beer and out of the foam saw a Rorschach symbol appear. After this, he surmised that while beer flavours and aromas have definitive compounds and chemicals, beer tastes are subjective and individual to the person tasting them and thus Rorschach Brewing Co. was born, a place where we ask you what do you taste? We strive to have all of our guests leave a little different than when they arrived, to learn a little something about themselves, to be surprised by what they like and to break down assumptions and self-imposed limits. Like many historic breweries in Europe, we strive for Rorschach Brewing Co. to be a place where our community gathers to share experiences through our beer.

OUR BUILDING

Rorschach Brewing Company is located at 1001 Eastern Avenue in the east end of Toronto, Ontario across from Jonathan Ashbridge Park, west of the beaches in the heart of Leslieville. Our building is the amalgamation of three distinct structures, beginning with the front of the building which is the original brick home built in 1917. An extension was built onto the rear of property and used for boat building from 1932 until the mid-1950s. The warehouse that was built in 1970 was connected to the existing two buildings in 2008.
